

Wakefield's Matmen Face Suitland

By JIMMY TUCKER

Suitland High School invades Wakefield High this afternoon in a wrestling match that gets underway at 3:30 p.m.

Coach Andy Quattrochi of Suitland will bring in his Rams with one victory and one walloping under his belt while Wakefield is still looking for its first victory.

Coach Vic Blue of Wakefield is still shuffling his line-up as a result of the flu epidemic that has victimized some of his lads.

Jim McIntosh is suffering from a lump over his eye and Burke Mucho might be forced to take the mat in the 175 pound class despite his own lack of obesity.

Jerry Hand is hoping to shift from the 145 pound division to the 138, but his chances of making the lighter weight limit are uncertain.

Coach Blue announced that John Wood would definitely be held out because of his virus infection, and Jim Edwards is slated to replace him at the 145 pound spot.

In the 127 class there is another mystery, with Joe Crunkilton having a slight attack of flu but not yet out of it for certain, while Bill Lady is all set to replace him.

To add to Coach Blue's blues Steve Hall sprained his ankle yesterday afternoon and if swelling occurs before match time a last minute replacement is in prospect. Coach Blue insists that he will not forfeit any match. Someone will represent Wakefield in every contest.

While glancing over his constantly changing line-up Coach Blue had this to say regarding new maneuvers; "regardless of the number of substitutes we have to make the matches will definitely be of interest and the meet should really be a lively one."

Suitland's Coach Andy Quattrochi is relying heavily on two undefeated lads, Ed Dickenson in the 133 division, and Duane Myer, the 145 pound tussler. Other lads the visiting coach is depending on in his effort to squash Wakefield are brothers Randy and Danny Mitchell, Charley Letts and David Songco.
